AgTraIn – Agricultural Transformation by Innovation
Extended deadline: January 9th 2012

The main objective of AgTraIn is to develop an elite European PhD school within the topic of successful development and transformation of farming systems in the developing world. Thematically, the AgTraIn programme deals with agricultural production chains, the natural resource base and the involved communities. The scope of AgTraIn will range from the technical aspects of agricultural production, over post-harvest management, processing and value-addition, to market access and commercialisation. A key feature of the programme is the involvement of stakeholders in identifying research questions and participating in project formulation. The emphasis is on applied research. www.agtrain.eu
