GALA GALLERY AT LEGACY VILLAGE

Gala Gallery art café is open at Legacy Village to showcase and promote emerging artists, photographers and designers from all over the world. Unique gifts, coffee and music are also on offer.

Gala Gallery art café is a space of art and creativity, your place to meet and communicate in a cozy lounge-type atmosphere, a showroom of artworks – pictures, photographs, films, sculptures and graphic designs.

Here you can escape from a chaotic world to cherish ideas and nurture concepts, praise and criticize, talk and laugh at a cup of coffee in a good company.

As a non-profit organization Gala Gallery co-operates closely with art schools and colleges, supports student projects and talented artists. Gala Gallery constantly reviews artists' portfolios and manuscripts. The focus is on international cultural life with the aim to reach open-minded people ready for fresh ideas and new names.

True connoisseurs of art will enjoy exhibitions and the choice of exotic crafts from different corners of the world presented in the gallery's shop. Everything on exhibition is offered for purchase at a reasonable price, meaning that Gala Gallery gives emerging artists an invaluable opportunity to demonstrate their skills, and see the real demand for their art in the modern society.

Gala Gallery art café is named after Elena Diakonova known to the world as Gala – the wife of Salvador Dali, his passion and muse. Salvador Dali stated once that it was Gala who acted as his ruthless agent, the interface between the genius and the real world.

Gala Gallery currently presents Sophia Bestuzheva with a series of black and white graphics, Konstantin Koreshkov with photographs of the Venetian carnival and Elena Tanskova with photographs from Nepal. Also featured are covers for the Pigeons and Peacocks magazine made by Ray Royal from London College of Fashion.

Gala Gallery gift shop offers unique lacquer jewelry boxes - masterpiece of Russian hand-painting, Venice carnival souvenir masks from Italy and handmade jewelry from Nepal.

LATITUDE 41° N

is an art show-competition for college/high school students from cities located at 41 degrees north latitude:
Chicago (USA), Cleveland (USA), Porto (Portugal), Barcelona (Spain), Rome (Italy), Tbilisi (Georgia), Istanbul (Turkey).

The show will take place at GALA gallery in Cleveland, Ohio, USA
December 4, 2009 - January 31, 2010.

Our goal is to give emerging artists an invaluable opportunity to demonstrate their skills, and see the real demand for their art in the modern society.

The winner of the competition will be chosen by the majority of our visitors' votes and will be announced on January 31, 2010.

The winner will be awarded a $500 prize.

We will also award the winner's college a $500 prize for encouraging students to participate in art competitions.
